Child maltreatment work is by nature multidisciplinary; we all share the same goal of ensuring health, safety and justice for children and families.

APSAC and the New York Foundling have developed a comprehensive, multidisciplinary Online Course for professionals to help expand their perspective and knowledge base to support effective practice in any child welfare setting.

ABOUT THE COURSE

The course opens with a history of the child maltreatment field presented by Victor Vieth; continues with presentations from physicians, attorneys, psychologists, educators and researchers on practice issues and skills; and concludes with a module on keeping current on best practices, and self-care by Jon Conte and Paul Stern.
