New Orleans, LA

June 11-14, 2014

“...fostering professional excellence in the field of child maltreatment by providing interdisciplinary education”
Welcome to the 22nd annual APSAC Colloquium!

Our vision is for a world where all maltreated or at-risk children and their families have access to the highest level of professional commitment and service. Our mission is achieved in a number of ways, most notably through expert training and educational activities, policy leadership and collaboration, and consultation that emphasizes theoretically sound, evidence-based principles.

Come join us in the celebration of this vision and commitment to supporting and training professionals who serve children and families affected by child maltreatment and violence. Through the hard work and dedication of our members, APSAC has grown into a multidisciplinary group of professionals, who also are our friends, family, colleagues and the leading experts on the prevention and intervention of child abuse in the United States.

Please join us in New Orleans June 11 – 14, 2014

About The Colloquium

This year we offer 90 institutes and workshops which address all aspects of child maltreatment including prevention, assessment, intervention and treatment with victims, perpetrators and families affected by physical, sexual and psychological abuse and neglect. Cultural considerations will also be addressed.

The educational goal of APSAC’s Colloquium is to foster professional excellence in the field of child maltreatment by providing interdisciplinary professional education.

Upon completion of this activity, participants should be able to:

1) Identify physical abuse, sexual abuse and neglect in children
2) Treat abused and neglected children
3) Apply model examination techniques for assessment of abused/neglected children
4) Describe and utilize the most up-to-date information concerning working with abused and neglected children to improve patient care
5) Prepare and report quality testimony in court cases, both as experts and as witnesses

Seminars have been designed primarily for professionals in mental health, medicine and nursing, law, law enforcement, education, prevention, research, advocacy, child protection services, and allied fields.

1. Integrative Treatment of Complex Trauma for Adolescents

Integrative Treatment of Complex Trauma for Adolescents was developed to assist clinicians in the evaluation and treatment of adolescents who have experienced multiple forms of psychological trauma, often in the context of negative living conditions such as poverty, deprivation and social discrimination.

John Briere, PhD; Cheryl Lanktree, PhD

2. Preventing the Death of Innocents - Making Child Fatality Review An Effective Tool in Saving Children

This institute will enhance skills in child death review to maximize team effectiveness in improving systems and preventing deaths. Strategies to participate in and/or better coordinate with other initiatives such as Citizen Review Panels, specialized Child Protective Services (CPS) and public health reviews, and domestic violence fatality reviews will be discussed.

Theresa Covington, MPH; Betty Wade Coyle, MA; Tricia Gardner, JD; Vincent Palusci, MD

3. Children with Sexual Behavior Problems: Theory, Research, & Practice

This training will review the current theoretical and empirical knowledge regarding children with sexual behavior problems, and provide practical knowledge in the use of evidence-based assessments and treatments for this population.

Brian Allen, PhD; Lucy Berliner, MSW

4. Special Institute for Multidisciplinary Team Members

Medical Child Abuse (MCA)

This session will identify barriers to diagnosing MCA, similarities and differences between MCA and other forms of child abuse, known common presentations of MCA, and multidisciplinary team protocols for management of MCA concerns.

Heidi Malott, MD

Forensic Interviewing Problem Solving

This preconference offers time for interviewers to discuss pitfalls or problems that have or can occur in forensic interviews. Participants are encouraged to bring videos for peer review.

Julie Kenniston, MSW

5. Testifying in Court: The importance of getting it right

Testifying in court is often a daunting proposition. Yet, child protection workers, law enforcement officers and other professionals regularly do and often under subpoena. This is a multidisciplinary session focused on the practical aspects of preparing and presenting in court, as well as strategies for navigating the judicial process in child abuse cases. It will address how to manage the expectations of attorneys and judges while operating within your own professional standards and ethics.

Judge John Molaison; Stacie LeBlanc, JD; Det. William Marshall; Viola Vaughan-Eden, PhD; Robert Geffner, PhD; Becki Kondkar, JD; and Richard Ducote, JD

6. Cultural Institute

Physical Punishment: How Much Is Too Much?

Child abuse laws have existed in the United States for over 40 years however from a criminal standpoint, most states sanction the use of physical punishment by parents. Religious and ethno cultural practices further impact of the acceptability of corporal punishment. Given the social tolerance for physical punishment, this workshop presents concepts to help physicians and other medical examiners, as well as child protective investigators and social workers assess cases of reported physical punishment.

Walter F. Lambert, MD

A Multi-Pronged Approach to Ending Physical Punishment of Children in the United States

This presentation/discussion will focus on implementable strategies for ending corporal punishment including “No Hit Zones”; a deferred prosecution child abuse initiative; educational strategies and training for medical, legal, mental health, and social work professionals; faith-based initiatives; as well as effective and sensitive messaging for parents.

Deborah Sendek, MS; Karen Polonko, PhD
Special Announcement

We are pleased to announce that SAGE Publications Inc. has agreed to endow the SAGE Charles T. Hendrix Keynote address at the APSAC Colloquium in honor of the contributions of C. Terry Hendrix to the field of child maltreatment. The endowment will be used to fund the expenses of the keynote speaker each year at the Colloquium. APSAC is indebted to Sage and Terry for their support of the Colloquium and child maltreatment professionals everywhere.

C. Terry Hendrix, MA, has been a member of APSAC for more than 20 years and was appointed to the APSAC Board of Directors in 1999. His academic training was in clinical psychology, and he served in the U.S. Army as a clinical psychology technician. He joined SAGE Publications in 1984 as an acquiring editor for both journals and books, and over the next 17 years was instrumental in the development of the SAGE lists in interpersonal violence and criminology. In his latter years at SAGE, Terry managed the acquisition, development, and maintenance of all U.S. based journals in interpersonal violence, including Child Maltreatment, Journal of Interpersonal Violence, and Violence Against Women.

Opening Remarks

Leon A. Cannizzaro, Jr. has served the citizens of New Orleans and their criminal justice system for his entire career. Since being elected District Attorney in November of 2008, Leon has worked aggressively to reform New Orleans’ criminal justice system and to protect the citizens of this city from violent criminals. Prior to being elected District Attorney, Leon served this community as a judge on the 4th Circuit Court of Appeal for five years. Additionally, he has served as a faculty member at the University of New Orleans and the Tulane University School of Law. He is a graduate of the University of New Orleans and earned a law degree from Loyola University School of Law.

Plenary Speakers

Ross Cheit, Professor of Political Science and Public Policy, joined the Brown faculty in 1986 coming from UC-Berkeley where he received his law degree and a PhD in public policy. His soon to be released book, The Witch-Hunt Narrative: Politics, Psychology, and the Sexual Abuse of Children empirically challenges the view that a series of high-profile cases in the 1980s and early 1990s were hoaxes. He shows how a narrative based on empirically thin evidence became a theory with real social force, and how that theory stood at odds with the reality of child sexual abuse.

Elizabeth Bartholet is the Morris Wasserstein Public Interest Professor of Law and Faculty Director of the Child Advocacy Program (CAP), which she founded in the fall of 2004. She teaches civil rights and family law, specializing in child welfare, adoption, and reproductive technology. Before joining the Harvard Faculty, she was engaged in civil rights and public interest work, first with the NAACP Legal Defense Fund, and later as founder and director of the Legal Action Center, a non-profit organization in New York City focused on criminal justice and substance abuse issues. Bartholet graduated from Radcliffe College in 1962, and from Harvard Law School in 1965.

“Stewards of Children”
Friday, June 13, 2014, 5:45 - 7:15 p.m.
Darkness to Light (D2L) is a fourteen year old non-profit whose mission is to empower people to prevent child sexual abuse. D2L is a national leader in the field of child sexual abuse prevention education for adults, with affiliates in all 50 U.S. states and 16 additional countries. Currently, Darkness to Light has trained more than 500,000 people in child sexual abuse prevention, with more than 6,000 authorized facilitators and 250 Partners in Prevention.

D2L's signature training program, Stewards of Children, is available in English and Spanish-translated versions, and can be taken in both online and facilitator-led formats. Stewards of Children is a prevention training program that teaches adults how to prevent, recognize and react responsibly to child sexual abuse. The program is designed for organizations that serve youth and for individuals concerned about the safety of children. It is a nationally distributed, evidence based program that will increase knowledge, improve attitudes, and change child protective behaviors. The program was created in 2005, and Darkness to Light released an updated version in 2013.

Join us at the APSAC 2014 Colloquium for a showing of this riveting and empowering narrative documentary, followed by a discussion with Darkness to Light's National Prevention Program Manager, Elizabeth Warren.

Doris Duke Fellowship “Cross-Generational” Networking Coffee
Saturday, June 14, 2014, 7:30 AM
Registration Instructions: Please email Bart Klika (bklika@uw.edu) to let us know you would like to participate in the breakfast meeting. Please register no later than May 15, 2014. Space is limited and reservations will be taken on a first come basis.

Chapin Hall at the University of Chicago invites doctoral students and early career scholars attending the APSAC Colloquium to join several leaders in the child abuse and neglect prevent on field for coffee on Saturday, June 14th. The primary purpose of this meeting is to facilitate an “inter-generational” discussion about career choices and research interests between those new to the field and those who have been engaged in this work for many years. Information also will be available on the Doris Duke Fellowships for the Promotion of Child Well-Being-seeking innovations to prevent child abuse and neglect. This initiative, now entering its fifth year, awards up to 15 fellowships each year to promising doctoral students in order to identify and develop a new generation of leaders capable of and committed to creating initiatives that will advance child abuse prevention practice and policy. Funded by the Doris Duke Charitable Foundation, the fellows receive an annual stipend of $25,000 for up to two years to support the completion of their dissertation and related research at their academic institution.

APSAC Silent Auction
There will be a silent auction held in conjunction with the welcome reception on Thursday, June 12th. There will be an opportunity to bid on exciting local items (baskets, gift certificates to restaurants) as well as training sessions provided by APSAC members. Proceeds will go to enhance APSAC educational opportunities.
This form may be duplicated - one person per registration form please. You may register online at www.apsac.org. Registration will be confirmed by email only.
